

APPLICATIONS FOR WATER SUPPLY AND/OR SEWERAGE LICENCES IN ENGLAND, WALES AND SCOTLAND

Explanatory guidance by the Water Services Regulation Authority (Ofwat) and the Water Industry Commission for Scotland (WICS)

4 April 2016

To operate as a water supply or sewerage licensee in England and Wales you must obtain a water supply and/or sewerage licence from Ofwat. To do so in Scotland, you must obtain licence(s) from WICS. There are separate processes for obtaining licences from Ofwat and WICS. If you wish to hold both you may send your applications using the separate forms but in a single submission to either regulator.

Applicants who wish to operate in England, Wales and Scotland can choose whether to:

1. Apply separately and directly to each regulator; or
2. Submit their applications for all requested licences in England, Wales and Scotland to either Ofwat or WICS, who will then pass the necessary application information and fee to the other regulator.

This guidance note explains what an applicant should do if it wishes to adopt the second option and submit its applications for all requested licences to one regulator. This is the same whether the applicant chooses to submit all its applications via Ofwat or via WICS.

Step 1: Consult the Ofwat guidance and complete the Ofwat application form for water supply and/or sewerage licences with a retail and/or restricted authorisation. Consult the WICS guidance and complete the WICS application form for all the Scottish licences being sought.

Step 2: Complete the cover letter at Annex 1 below and submit it, together with the completed application forms, all supporting documentation and both fees, to either Ofwat or WICS

Please note that Ofwat and WICS will accept payment by electronic bank transfer or cheque. Bank account details are available on request, and where payment is to be made by cheque separate cheques should be provided, made payable to each regulator, for each regulator's fee. The level of fee for applications to Ofwat is provided in the Ofwat application and for applications to WICS is shown in the Fees Scheme. Neither regulator will start to consider an application until it has received the required fee.
